

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will not only increase tension among passengers, it will compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively.

Please leave the current rules in effect. And I for one, do not want to hear other people's conversations. As it is now, people are walking around all the time with cell phones and they always talk loud and bystanders get to hear information that they do not want to have to listen to. Please do not change this rule. I DO NOT WANT TO LISTEN TO OTHER PEOPLE'S CONVERSATIONS ON AIRPLANES. And if everyone could talk on phones, imagine the amount of noise that would be generated. And also, there is no place to go to get away from all the cell phone talking, except to the bathroom. I can imagine the bathroom being the most desired place on the plane. Please don't change this rule.

Sincerely,

Patricia McCauley
